OUTSTANDING BALANCE CLASSIFIED BY DEBTOR TYPE

Although the Individual Owners represent 65.9% of the total dollars outstanding, they make up 88.7% of the outstanding cases. Prior to 4th Quarter of FY 2005, this graph only included the Customer Accounting Branch. It now includes all reporting entities.

Accounts are written off when collection is not anticipated but cross servicing efforts are still being performed. The balances of the written off debts are not included in the outstanding balance on the TROR. The accounts remain in the Treasury Offset Program until the statute of limitations (10 years) has been reached. At that point, the account is closed out and if greater than $600, reported to IRS and the debtor via Form 1099-C.

For an explanation of the large increase in write offs, see note 1 - (October 2004) on the graph Outstanding Accounts Receivable Balances.

Cases Classified by Amount Due

The data depicted on the graph to the left represents the accounts receivable balances maintained by the Customer Accounting Branch.

Collections vs New Receivables

The majority of the increase during the 3rd Quarter of FY 2006 is attributable to Legacy Treasury Direct Debit ACH transactions. Even though there is a large ending balance as of 2nd Quarter, these cases are normally completed within 2 business days.

Collections exceeded New Receivables during the 4th Quarter of FY 2007. The amount ($24,262) was too small to display when compared to the previous eight quarters.

During the 1st Quarter of FY 2008, TreasuryDirect had receivables established on the last business day of the quarter in the amount of $2.8 million because of ACH returns. These receivables were collected two days after the end of the quarter.
